LEASING OF CANAL BY STATE WILL BE OF DIRECT RETURN

Supt. of Highways Appealed to Voters to Support Proposition.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Oct. 25.—An appeal to voters to support the referendum proposal to empower the state to lease the old Illinois-Michigan Canal between Chicago and Joliet, was issued today by the Illinois Agricultural Association.

The question will be submitted to the voters in the general election November 4, in the form of a question on ratification of an act of the last general assembly under which the property might be leased.

Between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 may be added to the state's income annually through the leasing, the statement of the agricultural association asserts. It embodies a statement of William L. Sackett, superintendent of the state division of highways, commending the proposal to the voters.

"When the Chicago Sanitary District Canal was constructed," Mr. Sackett said, "it paralleled the Illinois and Michigan Canal. It provided a 20 foot canal of free navigation as compared with a six foot canal in the old Illinois and Michigan Canal, and on which tolls had to be collected for maintenance. Naturally, navigation went to the larger and more modern canal."

Part of Canal Filled

"Following this decline in usage, portions of the Illinois and Michigan Canal, were filled in by certain corporations and individuals seeking this very valuable property, especially within the limits of Cook County."

"This filling in was done without warrant in law, without permission of the state and finally was stopped by the courts upon application of the state. Suits are now pending in the courts of Cook County to oust those who have attempted to seize and occupy this state canal right of way and up to this time, the ruling of the courts has been for the state."

"The Illinois and Michigan Canal is not and had not been used between Chicago and Joliet for navigation for several years. It cannot be used because of the fills that have been made in it in several places. These fills obstruct it, result in reserves of stagnant and polluted water, prevent proper drainage and disposal of sewage running into it, to the detriment of adjoining property, and its condition has prevented the establishment of several large industrial plants within the last six years."

Will Mean Big Revenue

It called attention to the provision of the state constitution prohibiting leasing of the canal without approval in a referendum, continuing:

"If in the coming election, the people approve the leasing of this right of way, it may mean, eventually, a revenue of between one and two million dollars annually."

"How the property is to be valued as a basis for any leases, and other terms and conditions, are specifically set out in the proposition on which the people will vote November 4."

"A favorable vote on this referendum November 4, would enable the state to join in utilizing the property at various points for terminals which will be required within the limits of Chicago in connection with the Illinois Waterway and where there will be opportunity for the interchange of commerce between belt lines and water carriers. This will mean a great saving, both to the city of Chicago and to the state and will permit the location of terminals in close proximity to loop delivery."

Man Who Helped Name A. Lincoln to Speak Here

The Kiwanis Club has secured the services of Addison G. Proctor, last surviving member of the steering committee of the Wigwag convention which nominated Abraham Lincoln for president, to deliver his address on that convention at the Elk club at 6:30 o'clock next Thursday evening. Because of this there will be no meeting of the club Tuesday noon.

RECESS PROBE OF CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

Inquiry to Be Resumed in Washington First of Coming Week.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Oct. 25.—While its process servers sought witnesses wanted in connection with efforts to corroborate as yet secret stories regarding alleged misuse of funds in the republican campaign, the senate campaign fund investigating committee stood today in recess.

"Resuming the inquiry Monday, the senators will explore new fields, among them the 'straw vote' taken by the Literary Digest in the presidential campaign. Committeemen, in making known that subpoenas had been issued for officials of the Digest Publishing Co., said they wanted to know the source of the funds used to defray the cost of the nation-wide poll and the manner in which it is being conducted."

Another as yet unexplored field which probably will be entered upon next week is the amount and source of the funds collected in the Pittsburgh district for the republican national committee. W. L. Mellon, nephew of Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, who, the committee has been informed is chairman of the collection committee in that district, will be the principal witness.

Decision to issue subpoenas for men who may be able to substantiate stories told by two Chicago men about the misuse of funds in the campaign was reached yesterday after the character of these stories had been told to the committeemen in executive session by Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, and Samuel T. Intermyer of New York, counsel for Senator LaFollette.

The Chicago men were present at the session, but were not called.

"CURIOUS" BLOCK WORK

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Mabel G. Reinke, collector of internal revenue for the northern Illinois district, was forced to clear her department in the federal building today of some 200 curious citizens in quest of their neighbors' income tax figures.

The growing swarm of inquisitive halted the routine work of the department for several hours, and then Mrs. Reinke, wroth over the bad manners and aggressiveness of the mob, cleared the decks until some systematic procedure might be devised.

More than 5000 inquiries had reached the Chicago office when Mrs. Reinke announced the rules. Many had come by telephone with the suggestion "I'll hold the line while you look it up."

One gentleman with a flair for figures asked for returns from "all three counties around Rock Island."

FORECAST FOR NEXT WEEK

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Oct. 25.—Weather outlook for week beginning Monday:

SEC. AGRICULTURE WALLACE IS NEAR DEATH AT CAPITAL

This Afternoon He Was "Barely Alive," His Physicians Said.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Oct. 25.—Secretary Wallace of the Dept. of Agriculture lost ground during the night in his fight against toxemia poisoning which set in yesterday after an operation last week for removal of his appendix and gall bladder.

Dr. Boone, the White House physician who is attending the secretary, told inquirers this morning that the patient's condition was "critical" and "not as favorable as it was last night," but he was "still hopeful."

Mrs. Wallace spent the night at her husband's bedside in the naval hospital and Dr. Boone with physicians called in for consultation yesterday, including J. F. Coupal, president of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Boggs of Johns Hopkins University, maintained a similar vigil.

Physicians attending Mr. Wallace said shortly before noon today that the secretary's condition "could hardly be more unfavorable" for recovery.

There still was a slight hope but Mr. Wallace has been unconscious since early morning and the poisoning which followed an operation a week ago appears to have spread to all parts of the body.

Next Saturday is Dads' Day at Ill. University

Urbana—Dads' Day, like Homecoming, originated as a university festivity at the University of Illinois, the former in 1910 and the latter just a few years ago. The fifth annual Dads' Day will be celebrated November 1.

Personal letters to every Dad from the students themselves, as well as official invitations from the president of the University and from the Dads' Day committee have been sent.

Last year approximately 3,000 fathers came to the campus to spend the week-end with their sons and daughters. This year the feature attraction will be the football game in the new stadium between the University of Iowa, coached by a former Illinois player, Bert Ingwerson, and the University of Illinois.

ILLINOIS SECOND STATE

Washington, Oct. 25.—New York was first among the states in the amount of contributions to the republican campaign fund up to Oct. 10. An official report of the republican national committee received today by the senate campaign fund investigating committee showed New York's total to have been $514,521. Illinois was second with $330,822 and Pennsylvania third with $257,612.

Chairman Butler of the republican national committee has testified that it was the purpose to obtain $2,000,000 of the maximum budget of $3,000,000 from these three states.

MEMBERSHIP AT Y SHOWS FIFTY PER CENT BOOST

Campaign to Continue to First of Week to Cover Territory.

Coming in on the home stretch last night O. H. Martin and his team forged ahead of E. B. Raymond who had been leading and came under the line with a lead of 13 1/4 miles. When it is considered that one membership counts five miles and one dollar cash counts one mile it can be seen that the winning team won by a very close margin. The standing for the men's team at last night's supper was as follows:

Major O. H. Martin, 605 miles.
Major E. B. Raymond, 591 1/4 miles.
Major Ray Miller, 418 1/4 miles.
Major L. B. Potter, 400 miles.
Major H. L. Wheeler, 307 miles.

It would have been difficult to have created more excitement among the boys' teams than existed at last night's check-up. Before reporting, Johnson's team led by one mile. There was a lot at stake including the oyster supper for the winners and a $500 cash prize for the losers.

The Kennedy Music Company radio set for the winning boy and a trip to Chicago which was donated for the leading boys' team. Both majors with their teams were confident of success and both were anxious to hear the report. When they were read it showed Major Chas. Kerz as going clear off the track limit with 1007 1/2 miles, with Major Wm. Johnson also off the track limit with 690 miles.

In the discussion which followed the reports it was found that a lot of territory had not yet been covered and a motion was unanimously carried that the campaign be continued until the first of the week. A check-up supper will be given at 6:30 Monday night when it is expected that a large number of new memberships will be turned in. It is interesting to note that in the campaign this year every present membership and in addition a 50 per cent increase has been made in new memberships in both the men's and boys' divisions.

At the check-up supper on Monday night the captains of the girls' teams will also be present and will make report of work done by them.

Smart Chicago Taxi Man Came to Grief in Dixon

A quartet of Yellow Cab drivers from Chicago on their way to Oskaloosa, Iowa, in a Ford coach, were delayed in Dixon last evening for some time, one of the party being taken in custody by the police. Two of the men wore their uniforms and at the intersection of the Lincoln Highway and Chicago Road as they entered the city, driving at a high rate of speed, the car crashed into a post of a highway marker, breaking down the sign and crashing one of the wheels.

Chief Van Bibber was in the neighborhood and went to the scene after the crash. On investigation, he is said to have found part of a jug of wine in the car and ordered the men to the police station, he taking the wine in charge. Michael Casey, one of the quartet, is said to have attempted to kick the jug of wine out of the chief's hands as they were about to enter the station, and he was immediately placed under arrest. Justice A. H. Harnack assessed a fine of $5 and costs which was paid and after a new wheel had been procured, the party proceeded on their way.

Collision of Bridge is Cause of Traffic Delay

Traffic on the Galena avenue bridge was halted for some time about 3:15 yesterday afternoon when two automobiles collided at about the middle of the structure. Sam Cohen, employed at a local garage, was driving a truck and towing a Chevrolet touring car which he had purchased in Waukegan. Frank Ford, colored, aged 12, and Fred Hess, aged 9, were steering the touring car and in the center of the bridge lost control of the steering wheel.

The touring car swerved, throwing both lads out on the bridge, and crashed into a Peerless sedan driven by Edward H. Steffeln, vice president and secretary of a Chicago insurance company, whose home is in Oak Park. Both running boards of the sedan were broken. The boys sustained slight bruises, but were fortunate in not being seriously injured. The parties were taken to the police station after a satisfactory settlement was made. Chief Van Bibber later took both to their home in Waukegan.

Contract for Paving Bradshaw St. is Let

Famous Contralto to Sing in Dixon Wednesday, Nov. 5

SCHUMANN-HEINK

SCHUMANN-HEINK

Mme. Schumann-Heink comes to Dixon to appear in concert at the Dixon Theater on Wednesday evening Nov. 5.

Sixty-three years ago, when Abraham Lincoln was making the great decision that first was to rend and then after a bitter struggle weld this country firmly together, there was born in Austria a girl baby who was to become the greatest of contraltos. Her father was a Bohemian, a poorly paid officer in the Austrian army. Her mother was an Italian.

She was placed in the Ursuline convent in Prague and there, when she was twelve, a nun discovered that she had a remarkable voice. She was permitted to sing in the cathedral. Her family moved to Graz, where Excell. Benedek, a well to do army officer became interested and provided funds for lessons until she was seventeen.

Then he sent her to the director of the Hof opera in Vienna. He told her that "with such a face and no personality" she could never hope to be a singer.

Then began the struggle through which every great artist has gone, until she received an invitation to sing in the Royal Opera at Dresden. She remained there four years, being married in the third, and then professed to Heinrich. Her husband died there, leaving her with five children and pitifully small pay.

In the midst of her distress, Heinrich Beitel, the tenor, asked her to sing at his benefit in Berlin. Next morning, the papers were full of her triumph and until 1898 success followed success in the capitals of Europe.

Her first concert in the United States was given in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York City, in 1899, twenty-six years ago, and she has been singing in the United States virtually ever since, in opera and concert, with the exception of occasional engagements abroad. The last of these was on Aug. 1, 1914. She had just concluded singing her song in the midst of a performance of "Parsifal" at Bayreuth, Bavaria, when word came that Germany had declared war on Russia. That performance was never finished.

Mrs. Schumann-Heink had been an American citizen since 1906. She hurried home and her devotion to the soldier boys when this country entered the World War is a matter of history.

Workmen on Mausoleum Badly Burned at Work

E. J. Parker of Jacksonville, Ill., is in the Dixon public hospital, suffering from burns about the body sustained when a salamander heater exploded. Mr. Parker is employed at the Oakwood cemetery in the construction of the new Memorial mausoleum and is one of a force of workmen who came to Dixon to supervise the construction.

He was starting a fire in a salamander heater in the mausoleum building and used oil to hurry the fire. When he applied a match, the salamander exploded. The flames burned considerably of the clothing from his body and he sustained painful burns about the stomach and legs.

On his way to Dixon, Mr. Parker stopped at Peoria to have a tooth pulled, and when he arrived here infection developed and he was confined in the hospital for six weeks. He had been back at work only one week when the above accident befell him.

Hearing on Oil Leases Adjourned Until Monday

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Los Angeles, Oct. 25.—With hostilities suspended over the week end, due to the usual Saturday court recess, opposing counsel in the government's suit to cancel Elk Hills naval oil reserve leases held by Doheny interests, today were organizing their forces for resumption of the legal battle in federal court Monday.

IS DUE HOME LATE TODAY FROM 9000 MILE AIR FLIGHT

Journey Stamps Her a Real Rival to ZR-3, German Built.

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—Aboard U. S. S. Shenandoah via Radio to Fort Hayes.—New records on a new era of air navigation will have been made by the navy dirigible Shenandoah the only American-built rigid airship, when it completes its spectacular 9,000 mile cruise and is led into its hangar at Lakehurst late today. Few, if any, national undertakings have returned the enthusiasm and the pride of the American people as the Shenandoah did among the thousands who saw it pass. The cruise is the longest both in time and distance ever made by an airship of any type.

No other rigid airship has ever navigated over mountain peaks and through passes as the Shenandoah did in its two crossings of the Rockies.

Although the great ship battled heavy head winds on four out of six days of the cruise, she averaged between 38 and 40 miles an hour.

Tied to Three Masts

The cruise also demonstrated the practicability of the mooring mast for breaking long voyages and refueling and making minor repairs. The Shenandoah tried out three new masts.

The great bag also made five landings, two of them on the ground before coming to the mast. The danger of accidents in the air are slight compared to the risk during the few tense minutes of making a landing.

For officers and crew the rules has been as severe a test as for the ship. Only one man was severely injured. No sickness, even to a cold, was reported aboard.

As the Shenandoah crossed the Ohio river into Illinois from Paducah, Ky., at 3:30 a. m., today, she was making better than 50 miles an hour.

Couzens Asked to Act

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Senator Couzens, chairman of a committee authorized to investigate the Internal Revenue Bureau, was urged today by Senator LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, to call Secretary Mellon and Commissioner Blair of the Bureau before the committee and to ask them "by what authority they seek to subject the will of congress."

In sending a telegram to Mr. Couzens suggesting such action, Mr. LaFollette took cognizance of published reports that the two officials have objected to the publication by newspapers of the names of tax payers and the amount of their income taxes.

Declaring he understood Mr. Blair had issued a warning "threatening newspapers with fine and imprisonment" if they published such information, Senator LaFollette said he believed the commissioner's "threat violates the spirit of the public amendment of the revenue act and subverts the intent of congress that the public should know who is paying taxes and how much they pay."

"The purpose of this amendment," continued Mr. LaFollette's telegram to Mr. Couzens, "was to provide a means of checking up on tax dodgers by exposing the facts to public scrutiny. This purpose will be defeated if publication is prevented."

"Secretary Mellon is quoted as saying that congress did not so intend to permit newspaper publications to satisfy idle curiosity. Secretary Mellon may regard it as idle curiosity for the public to know who is paying taxes and who is dodging them but congress did not so intend it when it passed this amendment at an end of a fight extending over more than ten years."

Dixon-Polo Pavement to Be Completed by Nov. 27

By Thanksgiving day, motorists will be permitted to drive from Dixon to Polo and on to Freeport on concrete paving. The ribbon of cement has been completed north from Polo to Foreston, with the exception of some strips where culverts have not been built and a short stretch just north of the Burlington tracks at Polo. This latter strip has not been paved because plans are under way for the construction of a subway next year. It will be graveled and patrolled by life state, however, so that it will be useable throughout the winter.

From Polo south to Dixon the concrete road is about complete, there being less than a mile to build, and the contractors expect to finish this gap before the first of November.

Car Stolen Here Burned Beside Road at Compton

A Stevens touring car belonging to Forrest Shaw of Mt. Morris, was attending a dance here last evening, was stolen from its parking place on the east side of the Dixon Inn. The theft was reported to the police at 11:55 and this morning at 8 o'clock, Chief Van Bibber was notified that the machine was burned near Compton.

The owner of the car had not removed the keys from the switch when he parked it, he told the police. It was evident that the car was driven south from Dixon and it was probably taken at a late hour. Members of a local orchestra, who were returning from Park Paw after midnight, saw the car burning in a ditch beside the road north of Compton.

Here's New Angle in Opening Tax Returns to Eyes of "Curious"

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, Oct. 25.—The first caller today at the Internal Revenue office was a woman who demanded excitedly, her husband's return. While a clerk was hunting for the papers the woman said:

"I am finally going to find out just how much my husband makes. For years I have suspected that he made much more money than he ever told me about, and I felt that I was entitled to a whole lot more than I have been getting. You can bet I am not going to miss this opportunity of finding out for myself."

When the husband's returns was presented, she made notes and departed.

GOVT. RULING ON PUBLISHING TAXES DELAYED

No Further Suggestion to Newspapers to Be Made for Time.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Oct. 25.—Newspapers can expect no guiding suggestion from the government within forty-eight hours to aid them in determining whether they can publish facts relating to income tax payments without violation of law. The department of justice will be unable to announce its conclusion before Monday and Commissioner Blair of the Internal Revenue announced today he would have nothing further to say.

COUZENS ASKED TO ACT

He was killed instantly, his chest being crushed.

Outwitted Bandit Who Tried to Steal Auto

After being robbed of his automobile on the Lincoln Highway between DeKalb and Rochelle, Lewis Robertson outwitted the bandit, made him change a tire, and then placed him in jail in Rochelle.

Robertson, driving from Milwaukee to Moline, encountered the man who asked him for a lift. After the man had been in the car a short time he pulled out a revolver and ordered Robertson to turn it over to him. As Robertson moved toward the driver's seat to comply with the request of his guest he thought of his own gun under the seat. He got hold of it and got the drop on the bandit and forced him to put up his hands and turn over the gun. At the point of the revolver Robertson ordered the bandit to drive to Rochelle. On the way one of the tires blew out and Robertson forced the bandit to change the tire. He turned

Today's Market Report

Butter Market.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Heavier receipts and indifferent demand, a large storage surplus and prospects for a large winter make weakened the butter market during the week and prices were further reduced. Trading was limited.

Mild weather, considering the advancement of the season, was given as the cause for the continued heavy production which topped that of the same week last year by 15.4 per cent according to the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers at 22.2 per cent, according to Minnesota Creamery Association reports.

Closing wholesale prices 92 score butter and range of prices for the week follow: Chicago, 1c lower at 35 1/2; New York 1c lower at 37 1/2; Boston 1c lower at 37 1/2 and Philadelphia 1 1/2c lower at 38.

Weekly Grain Review.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Severe downturn in grain values this week have accompanied news of an improved outlook for the wheat crop in Argentina and Australia together with better conditions for the movement of wheat in Canada. Compared with a week ago, wheat the morning showed 5 1/2 to 5 3/4c down, corn was 5 1/2 to 7 1/2c off, and oats 4 1/2 to 5 1/2c decline. In provisions the net changes varied from 8 1/2c setback to a rise of 5 1/2c.

Timely rains in the two leading wheat countries of the southern hemisphere did much to relieve anxiety about possible world shortage of breadstuffs supplies. Bears contended that with better weather both in Argentina and Canada it would hardly be surprising if the 1924 top price on wheat had already been seen.

Congestion of grain at domestic spring wheat terminals was a further source of weakness in the wheat market. It was a generally accepted view that receipts northwest had been coming forward at a more rapid rate than a merchandising outlet could be provided for with the readiness which the case seemed to require.

Excellent weather tended to bring down the price of corn and oats, and so likewise did excessive marketing of livestock.

Most of the provision list was responsive to the broader which were witnessed both in the grain market and in hogs.

THE ROSE IN HISTORY—

The rosary of religious services is named for the rose, crushed roses, according to chroniclers, having been strung before the advent of beads. And we are told that the expression, "sub rosa" came about because the Romans used to paint a large rose on the ceiling of their banquet halls as a reminder to those present that what occurred was not to be repeated.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

For Doughnuts.
A teaspoonful of vinegar added to the fat in which you fry doughnuts will keep the doughnuts from becoming fat soaked.

For Baked Apples.
When baking apples prick the skin with a fork and they will not burst.
Lave in Flakes.
When making pies do not rub the shortening into the flour too thoroughly. It should be left in small flakes.

Use Ammonia.
Sponge off the children's rubbers occasionally with water containing ammonia. This will keep them from becoming dingy.

Darn Diagonally.
Darn stockings diagonally across the weave instead of with it, so it will give as the stocking stretches and have less tendency to break again.

One Egg Enough.
One egg will thicken a cup of milk for cup custards.

Make Better Pins.
The steel pins with the round black heads are better for pinning patterns than the common variety since they are much sharper and make a smaller hole in the material.

Will Not Tear.
If a child's dress is to be scalloped about the neck baste a bit of tape on the wrong side before embrodering the buttonhole edge. This makes a strong finish that will not tear out easily.

For Shoes and Rubbers.
Keep a large denim bag in your closet to hold rubbers and overshoes so they do not get thrown on the floor and give an untidy appearance.

Stove Polish.
A good polish for the stove is made by melting mutton fat and adding to it as much stove blackening as it will absorb.

Celebrated Birthday at Hill Crest
Mr. and Mrs. William Beler entertained twelve guests at Cedar Crest Friday in honor of "Kit" Carson in celebration of the 75th anniversary of his birth. The day was a most happy one and the guest of honor was the recipient of the best wishes of the guests.

FLAG WILL BE PRESENTED NOV. 9TH—
The Telegraph was misinformed yesterday, as to the date on which the ladies of the G. A. R. will present the Bethel U. E. church with a flag. The circle will present the Bethel Evangelical church with a flag on Nov. 9th, instead of tomorrow as announced in Friday's evening's Telegraph.

Menus for a Family

Tested by SISTER MARY.
Breakfast—Stewed prunes, whole wheat cereal, thin cream, baked hash, stewed tomatoes, toasted muffins, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Potato soup, toast sticks, chopped spinach with hard-boiled eggs, rye bread and butter sandwiches, chocolate tapioca pudding, milk, tea.
Dinner—Butter with rice, buttered string beans, orange and endive salad, toasted crackers, Roquefort cheese, coffee, milk.

A child under school age should not be allowed to eat the crackers and cheese for his dinner, but he may the other dishes mentioned.

Two or three slices of orange on the finely minced tender white leaves of endive make the junior's salad.

The hash is made of the left-over of the pot roast and is baked in a hot oven. Plenty of butter is needed to make good hash and care in trimming the meat.

Chocolate Tapioca Pudding.
Two cups milk 4 tablespoons minute tapioca, 2 tablespoons grated bitter chocolate, one-third cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, two eggs.

Heat milk to the scalding point. Add tapioca and chocolate and stir until well blended. Cook 30 minutes over hot water. Beat eggs slightly with sugar, salt and vanilla. Add to tapioca mixture. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake half an hour in a slow oven. Serve warm with or without whipped cream. The pudding is rich enough to make a saucer unnecessary and unexcusable for children.

Mutton With Rice.
Foreleg of mutton, 1 cup rice, 1 large onion, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups stewed tomatoes.

Cut meat from bone into pieces two inches square and 1/2 inch thick. Mince onion. Wash rice. Put a layer of meat into a buttered casserole, sprinkle with a layer of rice. Continue layer for mutton until all is used. Add onion, salt and a dash of pepper to tomato and pour over meat and rice in casserole. Add water to cover. Cover casserole and cook in a slow oven for two or three hours, adding more water as necessary.

All traces of skin should be carefully removed from the mutton when cutting it in pieces for serving.

A layer of sliced tomatoes can be used over each layer of rice and the minced onion sprinkled over the tomatoes. If fresh tomatoes are at hand this method is preferable.

If you use a fireless cooker this is an excellent dish to make in it. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

Hallowe'en Party Friday Evening

A Hallowe'en party was enjoyed Friday evening by the Southeast Group of the Sunshine Class in the parlors of St. Paul's Lutheran church, by members and their families, fifty being present, including the pastor, Rev. L. W. Walter and the Sunday School Supt. W. E. White and wife. The group met at 8:30 for a picnic supper with Hallowe'en menu, after which was a program. Piano solos were given by Misses Ruth Missman, Ethel Kay and Shirley Wickie. Anna Malarkey sang, and readings were given by Mrs. Martha Shippert and Ruth Lengel. The group presented Mr. A. J. Kay with a basket of fruit, having discovered that it was his birthday, and Mr. Kay gave brief appreciative remarks.

The supper room was elaborately decorated in Hallowe'en colors, orange and black, in many ingenious designs. Yellow flowers were in abundance, and there were typical Hallowe'en emblems in black figures standing about. Of special note was the large cauldron at one side of the room, supported by three crossed sticks and a black cat, in a setting of autumn leaves.

After the program all were invited by Miss Fortune Teller to her tent in the corner, where one at a time character analyses were given with much fun. Miss Fortune Teller appeared for a brief announcement and let all see her costume of black and orange, with its designs of cats, bats and moons. Her tent had black cat heads on it.

The reception committee was composed of children dressed as ghosts. The next meeting of the group will be a Thanksgiving service at the home of Mrs. Clarence Wickie.

Three Essentials—Lanterns, Surprises

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Kindergarten and Primary teachers are heartily in favor of celebrating Hallowe'en, according to answers given to a questionnaire sent out by the National Kindergarten and Elementary College. Teachers were unanimous in saying that Hallowe'en should be observed, and that three factors were necessary—Jack-o' Lanterns, fun and surprise. They were certain that fear should be given "a very cool reception."

The introduction of witches, goblins and ghosts was frowned upon, although one teacher said she "always tried to have enough of them around to accustom the children to the idea and to take away their fear of such nonsense." Brownies were almost as popular as Jacks, and the fairies were sometimes allowed to participate in the fun. Mischief was taboo in most instances, but mystery was an important factor, particularly with the older children.

Practically all the answers suggest that the negative side of Hallowe'en frolics can best be uprooted by supplying wholesome ideas and opportunities for fun.

SIMPLE TUNIC QUITE PRETTY

You can concentrate what little trimming you use this season all in one spot if you like, as in this model. The note of interest in the brick-colored outfit is the huge patch pocket embroidered in the gayest of wools. For the rest the frock is a simple tunic affair, straight, belted and smart.

HACKETT-LAUGHLIN—

Miss Mabel Laura Laughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Laughlin, of 508 South Goodwin Ave., Urbana, and Robert Hackett, of Rochelle, an instructor in accountancy at Lake Forest College, were married Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Trinity M. E. church parsonage, Urbana, the Rev. James C. Baker reading the ceremony.

Miss Helen Williams, of Urbana, was maid of honor and Bernard Tomlin of Easton, was best man. The bride wore blue brocaded chiffon and carried a bouquet of tea roses. Mr. and Mrs. Hackett left Saturday for Chicago on a wedding trip.

The bride attended Illinois University and Mr. Hackett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hackett, of Rochelle.

and graduated from the University of Illinois last year.

Betty Was Six Years Old Yesterday

Miss Betty Bernice Haines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Haines, 212 North Galena avenue, entertained a party of 14 little guests yesterday afternoon, the affair honoring her sixth birthday anniversary. Games were played during the afternoon, prizes being awarded to Master Dickie Durkes and Miss Eleanor Sterling. The party was in the form of a Hallowe'en affair and proved highly entertaining. At a late hour in the afternoon the little guests gathered about the table in the dining room and enjoyed refreshments. The table was artistically decorated with Hallowe'en colors and a fine big birthday cake formed the centerpiece.

FASHIONS—

A stunning new wrap of natural squirrel is cut in an unusual shape and opens out into a flat piece. When on the figure it assumes the closest and narrowest lines.

Leather collars in Peter Pan or Buster Brown shapes and turn-back cuffs of the same material are smart accessories for the serge or jersey dress.

Very elaborate new shawls for evening are made of broad velvet with wide chenille fringe.

Evening hats of mulline or tulle have brims composed of several layers of the material that make a most flattering frame for the face. Monkey fur is frequently used as a trimming.

High collars are very much the vogue in Paris but designers over here modify the effect with convert, able revers and flat ribbon scarfs that contribute a graceful finish.

SPENT THURSDAY IN ROCKFORD—

Mrs. Richard Pomroy, Miss Olive Haines and Miss Ada Lohr motored to Rockford Thursday and spent the day.

MOTORED TO HINSDALE TO VISIT SON—

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.
"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is wrongfully condemned as a traitor in the ill-fated rebellion of Monmouth against King James. With Jeremy Pitt he is sent to the Barbadoes as a slave and is bought by Colonel Bishop at the behest of Arabella, his niece. A Spanish galleon commanded by Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez slips into port under false colors and captures Bridgetown. Peter Blood saves the life of Mary Traill and sends Arabella and Mary to safety back of the town. He then sends his fellow rebels-convict on board Don Diego's ship and they capture it while the Spaniards are resting in the city. When Colonel Bishop, whose limited military defense had failed, realizes that the ship no longer threatens the town he goes aboard, where he is greeted by Peter Blood, now captain of the Spanish galleon, with Jeremy Pitt, Volterstone and Hagthorpe as his aides. Volterstone is for hanging Colonel Bishop to the yard arm, but Blood threatens to quit their leadership unless his orders are obeyed.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

He paused. There was no answer. But they stood hand-and-half-mustioned before him, save Hagthorpe, who shrugged and smiled wearily. Mr. Blood resumed:

"Ye'll please to understand that aboard a ship there is one captain. So." He swung again to the startled Colonel. "Though I promise you your life, I must—as you've heard—keep you aboard as a

When he came to the surface again, gasping for air, the Cinco Llagas was already some furlongs to leeward. But the roaring cheer of mocking valediction from the rebels-convict reached him across the water, to drive the iron of impotent rage deeper into his soul.

CHAPTER X
DON DIEGO

Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez awoke, and with languid eyes in aching head, he looked round the cabin, which was flooded with sunlight from the square windows astern. Between the pain in his head and the confusion in his mind, he found coherent thought impossible.

He was beginning to torture his mind with conjecture, when the door opened, and to Don Diego's increasing mystification he beheld his best suit of clothes step into the cabin. The suit paused to close the door, then advanced toward the couch on which Don Diego was extended, and inside the suit came a tall, slender gentleman of about Don Diego's own height and shape. Seeing the wide, startled eyes of the Spaniard upon him, the gentleman lengthened his stride.

"Awake, eh?" said he in Spanish. "Who the devil are you?" he asked. "And what the devil are you doing in my clothes and aboard my ship?"

"My name is Blood—Captain Peter Blood. This ship, like this handsome suit of clothes, is mine by right of conquest. Just as you, Don Diego, are my prisoner."

"And my son? What of my son?" he cried out. "He was in the boat that brought me aboard."

"Your son is safe; he and the boat's crew together with your gunner and his men are snugly in Irons under hatches."

Don Diego sank back on the couch, his glittering dark eyes fixed upon the tawny face above him. He accepted the situation with the fortitude of a fatalist. The light blue eyes played over him like points of steel.

"You are not afraid to die, Don Diego?"

"The question is offensive, sir."

"Would you be willing, sir, to earn life and liberty—for yourself, your son, and the other Spaniards who are on board?"

"To earn it, do you say? Why, if the service you would propose is one that cannot hurt my honor..."

"Could I be guilty of that?" protested the Captain. "I realize that even a pirate has his honor. The only man among us schooled in the art of navigation is fevered, delicious, in fact, as a result of certain ill-treatment he received ashore before we carried him away with us. I can handle a ship in action, and there are one or two men aboard who can assist me; but of the higher mysteries of seamanship and of the art of finding a way over the trackless wastes of ocean, we know nothing. We desire to make for the Dutch settlement of Curacao as straightly as possible. Will you pledge me your honor, if I release you upon parole, that you will navigate us thither? If so, we will release you and your surviving men upon arrival there."

Don Diego strode away in thought to the stern windows. "I accept," he said.

CHAPTER XI
FILIAL PIETY

By virtue of the pledge he had given, Don Diego de Espinosa enjoyed the freedom of the ship that had been his, and the navigation which he had undertaken was left entirely in his hands. He took his meals in the great cabin with Blood and the three officers elected to support him: Hagthorpe, Wolterstone, and Dyke.

That Don Diego was not playing fair it was impossible to suspect. Moreover, there was no conceivable reason why he should not. "If this wind holds," he had told them at supper after he had announced to them their position, "we should reach Curacao inside three days."

For three days the wind held, and yet when the third night descended upon them they had still made no landfall. Captain Blood uneasily mentioned it to Don Diego.

"It will be for to-morrow morning," he was answered with calm conviction.

Captain Blood passed on, content and went to visit Jerry Pitt, his patient to whose condition Don Diego owed his chance of life. It was this same Jerry Pitt who cast the first thought of suspicion. A trip on deck for a breath of fresh air and his navigator's interest in the night heavens moved him to point out the North Star and to lay the position of the ship to Captain Blood. But Don Diego's easy explanation satisfied his captain.

MAROONS MEET OHIO

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 25.—What can Chicago do against Ohio State, is a universal Western Conference query today as the teams met in Columbus to decide the Maroon's chances in the football title race against the favorite, Illinois.

Of nearly equal interest are the engagements of the Wisconsin and Michigan at Ann Arbor and the homecoming struggle between Minnesota and Iowa at Iowa City. Illinois and Northwestern play non-conference games and Indiana and Purdue are on vacation.

Landis saying Nothing
Concerning B. B. Scandal

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(By the Associated Press)—K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, said today the testimony of Coxy Dolan and Jimmy O'Connell, members of the New York Giants involved in the bribery scandal preliminary to the world's series, would be revealed whenever, in his judgment, it would serve a useful purpose in clearing up the situation.

Commissioner Landis declined to say whether Dolan and O'Connell had been placed in the same class with the members of the Chicago White Sox, who were placed on the ineligible list for conspiracy to throw the world's series of 1919 to Cincinnati. Answering the question whether Dolan and O'Connell had been forever banished from organized baseball, the commissioner said they had been placed on the ineligible list. He refused to amplify this statement.

"Judge Landis does not intend to furnish ammunition to anybody interested in getting Dolan and O'Connell back into baseball," his secretary said.

Commissioner Landis had no comment to make on the threatened suit for damages and slander which William J. Fallon, attorney for Dolan, says he will file in New York federal courts soon.

7:30 p. m. Evening service. Sermon, "The Closed Door."

We are living in a day when the church appears powerless and unable to make her influence manifest to the world. The reason lies in the fact that the Holy Spirit is not permitted to have his rightful place. As individual believers we need a knowledge of the Holy Spirit; His person and work in order that we may properly adjust our lives in relationship to Him.

Thursday evening, Oct. 30, Bishop W. F. Heil, of Allentown, Pa., will be present and bring us a gospel message. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

What the Colonial gives

COLONIAL makers were not satisfied to build just a furnace. Their ideal was an improved heating plant—one that would give the most warmth for each dollar of fuel—one that would be easy and convenient to care for. The result is, you will find in the COLONIAL such features of merit as the Dome Heat Intensifier and the Heat Retaining Radiator that help in giving 40% increased heating.

The Dome Heat Intensifier is found only in the COLONIAL. This heating principle is provided by sloping the walls over the flame so the entire surface comes in direct contact with them, producing an intense heat.

Then, instead of the ordinary single feed door, you find Double Doors on the COLONIAL. Much easier to feed large pieces of fuel.

The COLONIAL is a clean furnace. There's no leaking gas and smoke. There's no escaping dust and dirt while shaking the grate, for the bars extend through the door frame.

The COLONIAL gives much more than can be told here. Have us show you one furnace that's back to 1917 prices.

500 Pound Butter Fat Club Aim College Agriculture

Urbana—High class dairy cows on Illinois farms are to get more recognition and the worth of recommended dairying practices is to be more widely demonstrated in Illinois during the coming year by means of an Illinois 500 Pound Butter Fat Club.

The club will be organized by the College of Agriculture. Two thousand cows are expected to be enrolled.

Any farmer in Illinois who is a member of a cow testing association may enter any of his cows that he thinks can make 500 or more pounds of butterfat between January 1, 1925 and January 1, 1926.

There are any number of high class dairy cows in Illinois that the dairymen themselves never know about, the college said. "If they meet the requirements of the club and demonstrate their ability to produce large quantities of butterfat they will point the way to improved methods in milk production. We will be able to demonstrate through this club the merits of methods that are practiced in getting profitable production from dairy cows. Such information should be of high value to Illinois dairymen in the matter of intelligent and profitable herd improvement."

Records on the cows entered in the club will be kept by testers in the cow testing association and all record blanks will be furnished by farm advisers. Each county will arrange for prizes which will be presented at the annual dairy meeting or at some special meeting arranged for the purpose in the various counties.

YANKEE WITH STEFANSON IS TAKEN BY RUSS

Apparently Willing to Leave Wrangle, So
U. S. is Relieved.

Petrozavodsk, Kamchatka, Siberia, Oct. 24.—After a tempestuous voyage, the Soviet Russian transport Red October, arrived here today from Wrangel Island with Charles Wells of Uniontown, Pa., survivor of the expedition which Vilhjalmur Stefansson took to the island a year ago and with live Eskimo members of the expedition who are American citizens.

Prof. Davidovichief of the Russian expedition explained that Wells and his Eskimo companions were taken off the island because they had no desire to remain and because they had no permit from the Soviet government to live or hunt there.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Word from Siberia indicating that Charles Wells, American citizen and the Eskimos who accompanied him to Wrangle Island, had left the island aboard the Russian Soviet transport Red October of their own free will removes the possibility of a troublesome incident so far as the Washington government is concerned.

BOBCATS LOSING GROUND DAILY IN COPLEY'S OPINION

Predicts Every Republican Candidate Will Carry Illinois.

Chicago — "All Republican candidates will carry Illinois by 250,000 and up," is the prophecy of Col. Ira C. Copley, of Aurora, formerly in congress from Eleventh district, veteran politician, publisher and close observer of events.

"That majority may run a long way up," he went on. "Governor Small will, I think, get at least 400,000 plurality. President Coolidge and Governor Deneen, candidate for United States Senator, may go higher than Small, but I doubt that. From the Republican point of view, conditions are improving day by day."

"This campaign is a good deal like that of 1896. If the election that year had been in September, Bryan might have been elected. Certainly he would have received a great many more votes than he did. But he lost week by week as the campaign advanced after the middle of September."

"If the election this year had been last month LaFollette might have been a dangerous element. Not that he ever had a chance to be elected, but he might have carried several states. But as the campaign advances he loses day by day. It is my judgment that he will lose and keep on losing until election day."

Davis Cuts Little Figure
"I speak of LaFollette, because I do not believe that Davis will cut any figure in the returns north of the Ohio river."

"To get down to details, and beginning at the bottom, my own county of Kane. We will have between 35,000 and 40,000 votes in Kane county. LaFollette may get 10,000 votes in Kane county, but I think that is high. Davis may get 3500 but not to exceed twelve per cent of the vote; all the rest will go to Coolidge."

"In the state, LaFollette may get 600,000 votes; Davis 350,000, with either running 25,000 to 50,000 above or below the figures given. Coolidge will get the rest, barring a few thousand to the Socialist-Labor, Prohibitionist, etc., and there will be more than 2,000,000 votes cast."

"North of the Ohio river and west of Missouri the result is going to be very much the same. In the past six weeks I have been to California and back, and to Boston and back twice. On these trips I talked a lot of politics, and this is what I think: Outside of the South, and the three border states—Maryland, Kentucky and Missouri—where he has a chance, Davis will not carry an important state, and lot more than two of the smaller states, like Rhode Island, Delaware, Utah or Arizona. I do not think he will carry any of these, but it could happen."

"LaFollette, I think, cannot carry more than one important state—Wisconsin. He also may carry one or two of the little states, but there is every reason to believe he will not. As I said, LaFollette's chances are shrinking day by day, and he can lose Wisconsin, while the Democratic party north of the Ohio river is negligible. All else will be for Coolidge and that will be enough."

DAVIS NOW CLAIMS ABOUT
Everything at Issue

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Oct. 25.—Resuming his campaign in New York, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, faced today a schedule of speaking engagements and conferences here and in New Jersey, which is expected to take him to the closing event of his personal participation in the election contest, the speech at Carnegie Hall on the evening of Nov. 1.

He motored here from his home in Locust Valley to address a democratic women's rally this afternoon and appear at a Staten Island meeting; winding up the day with a third speech before a gathering in Bronx tonight.

It is his intention to outline in part his experiences in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, supplementing the statement he issued upon his return from those states last night. He evidenced a high spirit of optimism concerning the result of the election contest, reaffirming his unqualified statement that the democratic national ticket would win on November 4 and in addition to carrying the ticket which he heads, that the democratic party would be given a majority control in congress.

Criminal Proceedings Against Wirth Quashed

The criminal proceeding brought against Samuel Wirth by Ben Hasselton, in which Hasselton charged the former with reckless driving, following the auto accident which resulted in the death of his son Alvin, on October 9, was called for hearing in Justice Grover Gehan's court Friday.

States Attorney Mark Keher was present to prosecute, with Atty. H. A. Brooks representing Mr. Wirth. After a jury had been impaneled Mr. Keher, interviewing the witnesses, was convinced the evidence would show the accident to have been unavoidable, as determined by the Coroner's jury, and accordingly moved the dismissal of the suit.

Rheumatism

"Yes! it's all gone."

DO NOT close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. You can get rid of your rheumatism by building up your blood power. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

The Whole Truth About Tire Bargains

We've been in the tire business a long time. We have read many "amazing" offers.

And our experience is that the one sure-fire, dependable, high-quality and low-cost tire bargain on the market today is a Goodyear Tire.

Get our prices, and you will think so, too.

HERE ARE A FEW EXAMPLES OF THE BARGAINS WE ARE OFFERING IN GENUINE GOODYEAR TIRES

PROUD MAISIE

Proud Maisie is in the wood,
Walking so early;
Sweet robin sits on the bush
Singing so rarely.

"Tell me, thou bonny bird,
When shall I marry me?"—
"When six braw gentlemen
Kirkward shall carry ye."

"Who makes the bridal bed,
Birdie, say truly?"
"The grey-headed sexton
That delves the grave duly."

"The glow-worm o'er grave and stone
Shall light thee steady.
The owl from the steeple sing,
'Welcome, proud lady!'"

Sir Walter Scott

LIGHT

The night has a thousand eyes,
And the day but one;
Yet the light of the bright world dies,
With the dying sun.

The mind has a thousand eyes,
And the heart but one;
Yet the light of a whole life dies,
When love is done.

Francis W. Bourdillon

CHILDREN

Children are what the mothers are.
No fondest father's fondest care
Can fashion so the infant heart
As those creative beams that dart
With all their hopes and fears, upon
The cradle of a sleeping son.

His startled eyes with wonder see
A father near him on his knee,
Who wishes all the while to trace
The mother in his future face;
But 'tis to her alone uprise
His wakening arms; to her those eyes
Open with joy and not surprise.

—Walter Savage Landor.

SONG

Follow a shadow, it still flies you.
Seem to fly it, it will pursue:
So court a mistress, she denies you:
Let her alone, she will court you
Say, are not women truly, then,
Styled but the shadows of us men?

At morn and evening shades are longest
At noon they are short or none.
So men at weakest they are strongest.
But grant us perfect, they're not known.
Say, are not women truly, then,
Styled but the shadows of us men?

—Ben Jonson

SONNET

To one who has been long in city pent,
'Tis very sweet to look into the fair
And open face of heaven—to breathe a prayer
Full in the smile of the blue firmament.
Who is more happy, when, with heart content,
Fatigued he sinks into some pleasant lair
Of wavy grass, and reads a debonair
And gentle tale of love and languishment?
Returning home at evening, with an ear
Catching the notes of Philomel—an eye
Watching the sailing cloudlet's bright career,
He mourns that day so soon has glided by:
'E'en like the passage of an angel's tear
That falls through the clear ether silently.

—John Keats.

ROSE AYLMER

Ah, what avails the sceptred race,
Ah, what the form divine!
What every virtue, every grace!
Rose Aylmer, all were thine.
Rose Aylmer, whom these wakeful eyes
May weep, but never see,
A night of memories and of sighs
I consecrate to thee.

—Walter Savage Landor

FINAL SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of Local Improvements of the City of Dixon, Illinois, and its members, caused to be filed in the office of the County Clerk of Lee County, Illinois, on the 16th day of October, A. D. 1924, a certificate showing the final cost of constructing a cement concrete pavement on Poplar Avenue from the south line of Tenth Street to the City Limits, in said City, under and in pursuance of Local Improvement Ordinance No. 213, Series of 1924, and the amount estimated by said Board of Local Improvements and its members to be required to meet the accruing interest on bonds and vouchers issued to anticipate the collection of the tax, and the necessary expenses for said work.

Said certificate also shows that said work has been done and completed by the contractor doing the work in substantial conformity to the requirements of said Ordinance and has been duly accepted by the Board and its members.

The final cost of said improvement and the amount estimated for interest as shown in the certificate are as follows: 1200 cu. yds. excavation @ $ .90—$1,080.00; 2400 cu. yds. 24" gutter @ $ .50—$1,200.00; 768 lin. ft. combined curb and gutter @ $ .90—$691.20; 15 lin. ft. 7x12 concrete headers @ $ .40—$6.00; 5653 sq. yds. reinforced concrete paving 12" thick, 12-3% mix @ $2.69—$15,223.95; 6 manhole covers adjusted to grade @ $5.00 each—$30.00; 2 private entrances where old curbing existed—$25.75. Total amount due contractor $24,442.95. Lawful expense $1111.55. accrued interest $490.00; engineering $355.00. Amount to be rebated (13%) $2600.00.

The excess of the amount levied whereb to pay for the cost of said improvement and lawful expense attending the same above the foregoing total actual cost of said improvement and estimated amount for lapsing interest on bonds, to-wit: the sum of

The WELL-DRESSED MAN
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Styles In Shirt Cuffs
When the single cuff came back with the re-introduction of the cross-striped, starched bosom shirt it was symptomatic of the tendency among well-dressed men to differentiate again between town clothes and country clothes. Golf, the motor car, the suburban club and the lure of country life had pretty well effaced this distinction. Men dressed for the office as though they were bound for outdoors. Pleated, yoked and belted jackets leaned over desks and knickered legs sprawled under them. Soft shirts and flowing collars and wool socks and brogued shoes gave a business man the appearance of being golf-mad, which, indeed, he may be off duty, but which he has no business to look like while engaged in work-a-day pursuits. Sport and street can never meet. They are as far apart as London and Labrador.

The wing collar, the stiff-bosom shirt and the starched single cuff, now so fashionable, restrict town dress to town and country dress to the country and serve to restore the traditional rule of clothes to meet the obligation of every occasion which is the only correct principle in dress. If a man is permitted to wear one style of turnout in all places and upon all occasions, why not let us adopt knickers exclusively and discard trousers altogether? Why not burn our evening clothes? Why not be married in a golf suit? Why not dance in a pull-over sweater, long stockings, Scotch-grained shoes and the rest of one's field outfit?

A certain measure of formality in dress is essential to refine a man and his manners and to preserve the social and cultural graces without which we would all be a melancholy mixture of bore and boor. The right clothes in the wrong place and the wrong clothes in the right place must give way to the right clothes in the right place or the Fine Art of Dress will lose all that is fine and much that is art.

Illustrated here are the season's three leading types of single, short-cuffs. The topmost is decidedly rounded; the middle one is slightly rounded, the undermost is perfectly square. All are correct according to personal preference, rather than fixed fashion. You may go as you please, yet please as you go.

Copyright 1924 by C. E. Wyr.

$2600.00 will upon settlement with the contractor being made, be rebated proportionately to the seven properties included within the assessment roll.

Public notice is further given that said Court has set said certificate and any objections that may be filed for hearing at nine o'clock, November 6, 1924, before which time any person interested may file objection to said certificate at said hearing and show cause why said petition shall not be taken as true.

Dated at Dixon, Illinois, this 21st day of October, 1924.

The Board of Local Improvements of the City of Dixon, Illinois, and its Members.

By E. E. Wingert, their Attorney.

Sixteen High Schools

Teaching Agriculture

Springfield—Agricultural education, once confined to universities, has now become a regular part of many high school curriculums, as evidenced by the fact that 16 high schools have installed vocational agricultural departments this year, and that enrollment in the 140 already existing departments has increased materially, according to J. E. Hill, state supervisor of agricultural education.

"The bright spots appearing in the economic conditions of the farmers this year have been an incentive to the farm boys to study agriculture," Mr. Hill said, "and many agricultural departments which have been organized for several years report the largest enrollment since the departments were started."

"This increased interest in agricultural education, however, is not due entirely to the better economic conditions of the farmer. The work of boys already enrolled in vocational agriculture has a great influence on the other farm boys of the community."

"Vocational" agricultural departments in Illinois are just reaching the stage where they can demonstrate the value of their work. The increased enrollment indicates a favorable verdict."

High schools in which new departments have been established this year are Blandinsville, Cornell, Fair-bury, Goreville, Hampshire, Hanover, LaMar, Lawrenceville, Melvin, Mil-lerville, Princeton, Stanford, Sandoval, Alvin, Clinton and Sesser."

New Times Have Given Teachers New Problems

Freeport, Ill., Oct. 24.—Declaring new times have brought new problems in the education of the young, Prof. M. V. O'Shea, of the University of Wisconsin, addressing the northwest-ern division of the Illinois Teachers Association here today said:

"Many young people in our cities today are going the pace and become blasé early in life. Motion picture shows, excess of party life, general use of automobiles, all tend to rob them of their stability, simplicity, docility and teachableness."

Prof. O'Shea suggested an anti-dote, more public playgrounds, properly supervised and "a reasonable amount of manual work."

Mal Cochran's DAILY POEM

A hundred million people, yea, per-haps it's more or less, have fallen for the latest fad of all. We all were kind of doubtful but we've changed a bit, I guess, and one by one we finally have to fall.

The radio has got us and it holds us in its grip. We're pickin' things at random from the air. We all are mighty thankful when a friend hands out a tip as to something that we didn't know was there.

There are a lot of little buttons that you push or pull or turn, but a lot of them are really never used. We thing we've done the main thing air.

When we get the tubes to burn and with other little angles we're confused. Every night we get a station that we haven't had before; then switch before the number's half way through. And then there come a rasping from another station's score but we never know exactly who is who.

Yep, the radio has got us; we have fallen with a crash, and the craze that's hit is really one that's rare. We are satisfied and happy even though we're getting trash, just as long as we get something from the air.

The Affair at Flower Acres
by CAROLYN WELLS
© 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Douglas Raynor is found shot through the heart in the early evening on the floor of the sun room of Flower Acres, his Long Island home. Standing over the dead man, pistol in hand, is Malcolm Finley, former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy. Eva Turner, Raynor's nurse, stands by the light switch. In a moment Nancy appears, white-faced and terrified. Orville Kent, Nancy's mother, comes in from the south side of the room. And then Ezra Goddard, friend of Finley, Miss Mattie, Raynor's sister, and others enter upon the scene. Detective Dobbins heads the police investigation. An autopsy reveals that Raynor also was being systematically poisoned with arsenic. Lionel Raynor, son of Douglas Raynor by first marriage, comes to claim his father's estate. Finley meets Nancy in my terms. He pleads.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Just for an instant she swayed toward him, and then drew back, with a heart-breaking sigh.

"No—dear—I see I must be brave for both of us. Listen, Malcolm, I am in very deep waters—I can't tell the truth—I can't—"

"What! Then, Nan, if it's as bad as all that—you must have a lawyer, a good one, at once. You must tell him everything."

"But, listen, Mal—if this will of Lionel's holds—I am penniless."

"Never, while I am in the world! What's mine is yours—"

"But that won't do. I can't take your money—"

"Indeed you can. No one need ever know. I'll get Wadsworth for you—he's great—and most discreet. Yes, he's our man."

"And—Malcolm, whom will you get for yourself?"

"For myself? Why—oh, yes—of course, for myself. Why—well, you see, I hadn't thought of that. But it will be all right, Nan—trust me to make it all right."

"Oh, you are so splendid. Malcolm—who did I marry that awful man? Oh, why did I?"

"Wait a minute—why did you, Nan?"

She looked at him a long moment, with a grave regard, and then said:

"I can't tell you, Mal—I can't tell you, but, oh, I'm glad he's dead. There, I've said it, and I don't care! I'm glad, glad, glad! I couldn't have lived another day with him!"

"Hush, dear—don't say such things. Now, listen, Nancy, and do just as I tell you. I'm going to send for Lawyer Wadsworth, and he will take you in hand. Tell him everything—tell him about the—the tablets you put in Raynor's coffee cup—I saw you do it, dear. Tell Wadsworth all about it. Trust him, and he will do more for you than any other man I know of could do."

"But I can't—Mal, I can't tell anybody about the—about the—"

"I'll tell it then," and Miss Mattie stepped before her.

"Yes, I've been eavesdropping," she said, "they looked at her in dismay. 'Or, I can scarcely call it that, as you took no pains to lower your voices very much. Nan, I heard you say how glad you are that your husband is dead. I didn't need that to tell me who killed him—hush, don't say a word—don't add perjury to your other crimes. And I don't say, Nan, but that you did lead a miserable life with him. I know how Douglas treated you—and, Nancy—I know why."

Miss Mattie's voice dropped to a whisper with passion, was that of one who spoke truth.

"Let that rest for a moment, Nan, and tell me what you know about Douglas's will."

"Nothing more than I have told everybody. It was always kept in the secretary drawer. Some one has stolen it."

"Or Douglas destroyed it."

"That may be," Nan agreed. "He was very, very angry at me the day before he died, and he threatened to disinherit me—but I didn't think he would do so."

"He couldn't," said Miss Mattie. "A man can't disinherit his wife. And the will must be found. I hardly think he destroyed it."

"Why does old Gannon deny witnessing it?" Finley asked.

"Gannon is an old snake in the grass," Miss Raynor said. "He has some aim to grind, you may be sure. For I know he witnessed that will."

"The other witness, Peters, must be found," said Finley.

"You see, Nan," Miss Mattie went on, "I don't know as that will Lionel has remembers me—properly. In the later will Douglas left me a large bequest. He had much more money of late years, but if that will his son has claims it all, where will we be?"

"Where will we be, anyway?" Nan said, wearily. "But I don't propose to give up my rights without a struggle, and I'm going to have a talk with Lionel and I'm going now."

She went away in search of the young man, and found him in the sun parlor.

"Can't we join forces, Lionel?" she said.

"Sit down and talk it over," he said, arranging a big cushion for her. "I'd like to be friends, Nan, if you can convince me you didn't kill my father. Tell Wadsworth all about it. Trust him, and he will do more for you than any other man I know of could do."

"Of course I didn't kill him," Nan said, "how can you even imagine such a thing?"

"You say that, but your face, your eyes, your whole expression belie your words. Do you also deny poisoning him—or are you only disclaiming the shooting?"

"The hard, sharp, black eyes of the young man looked closely into her own, and there was something in his manner, in his effect, that repelled her so utterly she was scarce able to speak to him."

"I think," she said, slowly, "that I will refer you to my lawyer."

Lionel Raynor gave a start. "A lawyer, have you one?"

"I shall have, very soon. Meantime, you may wait for my answers to your questions."

"Dolly, Dolly, is that the tone you're going to take toward me? Going to have a lawyer are you? And pray, how are you going to pay him? Don't you know you're practically penniless? But I suppose your friend, Mr. Finley, will be only too glad to pay—"

But Nancy had risen and walked away.

At the doorway, she met Detective Dobbins, on his search, as always.

"No overshoes found," he announced. "Been all over the house, family, servants, guests—can't find a new rubber in the place. Plenty of old ones—good enough ones, too, but no brand new ones—and only a brand new one would have made that print. Most remarkable."

"But it can't be of real significance, can it, Mr. Dobbins?" Nan raised her sad eyes to his face. "Why do you put such stress on it?"

"Why, it's a clew! And it might be of utmost importance to you, Mrs. Raynor. For, if we can prove that rubber was on the foot of a man from the outside—an intruder—why, then it lets out everybody in the house—everybody!"

"Then, if you can't find a new overshoe in the house, it must have been an outsider?" Nan was interested now.

"Looks that way—yes, ma'am, it looks that way. Oh, you cheer up, Mrs. Raynor, things look pretty black against you, I'll admit that. But if I can pull you out, I will. Yes, ma'am, I will. Though we may have to implicate your friend, Mr. Finley."

The detective made this speech purposely, as a test of Nan's behavior. He gained little, for she presented only a mask-like calm of face, and an air of utter indifference.

"A deep one," he said to himself, as she walked slowly away, "yes, a mighty deep one—and, therefore, most likely a wrong one!"

Nan wandered on, down to the gardens, down the hillside to the bridge over the brook, and seeing Dolly Fay, waved her hand in invitation.

And Dolly came, flying, her sash ends straight out behind her.

"Nancy, darling, how are you this morning? I can't stand it to have you so awful sad all the time!"

"Dolly, dear, have you the packet safe—you know, the one I gave you to keep for me?"

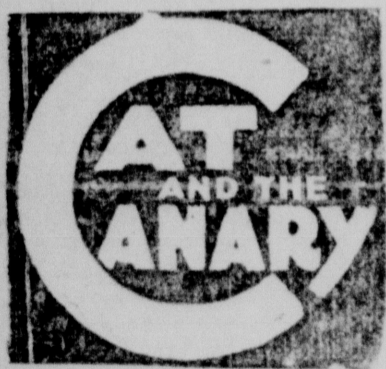

"Oh, yes, Nan, of course."

"Run and get it, then—I'll wait for you

N. Y. Globe: "An orgy of thrills; more exciting than 'The Bat'—the greatest mystery play I ever saw. A solid evening of clammy, creepy set off by hysterical laughter."

Chi. Examiner: "Not only strong women but weak men screamed."

N. Y. World: "I mean enough to make impressionable theatre-goers fancy that they see things in the dark."

Secrets of a Wife's Diary

"Will you love me in December—as you did in May?"
Will you love me when my hair is turning grey?"

The beauty of this drama, the ecstasy, the romance! The sweetness of its appeal. The mastery of its interpretation! The story of two who vowed their springtime love would live for aye.

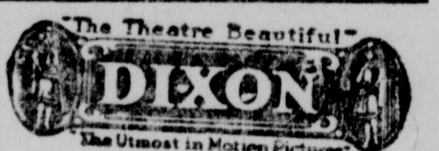

Seldom a drama that touches the soul as this, seldom a story so truthfully tells what every wife, every husband, every sweetheart must learn. Wives will take courage from this glimpse into marriage, husbands will love their wives more, sweethearts will pledge anew their undying devotion.

Eugene O'Brien and a cast of exceptional talent support Miss Talmadge.
By Rudolph Bessier and May Edington.
